Preface

These Notes on the Descendants of Philippe DesTroisMaisons dit Picard and Martine Crosnier were prepared in the hope that at least some of their descendants will take an interest in the people from whom they are descended. It is hoped that the cousins in the various branches might see their relationship to each other. Perhaps my modest notes will aid some future budding genealogist in the next generation in compiling a more complete genealogy. My sister, Marion Picard, compiled many records as early as 1925, providing the foundation on which these notes were built.

This is not a true genealogy in that it is not done by generations, and numbers are not used in the usual manner. Rather, it is an attempt to simplify things. To that end, I have set down what I have been able to find out in the early generations in Quebec. I have also treated each child of Edouard (incoming ancestor to the U.S.A.) separately and in sections. Each child, 8 in all, is brought down from the 1860's — to include all descendants to 1983 in so far as possible. I think I have nearly everyone.

Compiling these records has consumed most of my spare time for many years. Rather than have the notes lost, it seems best to publish what I now have on hand. They perhaps are far from complete. Relatives and friends should please pardon the many errors and omissions. They should also accept thanks for cooperating in my endeavor by supplying needed information.

George Albert Fields Picard

This book is dedicated to my father, George Albert Fields Picard, who would have appreciated my modest efforts to gather the family clan between these covers.

PICARD

ARMS: Sable, an anchor in pale flukes to base, or, on a chief, azure, three five pointed mullets argent.

CREST: A lion issuant holding in the dexter paw the anchor as in the arms.

MOTTO: Anchora salutis (The anchor of salvation)

HERALDRY

Heraldry is defined as the art of science of blazoning or describing in appropriate technical terms Coats of Arms and other heraldic and armorial insignia and is of very ancient origin.

These badges of distinction were the reward of personal merit and could be secured by the humblest as well as the highest. They are today the testimonials and warrants of bravery, heroism and meritorious deeds of our ancestors.

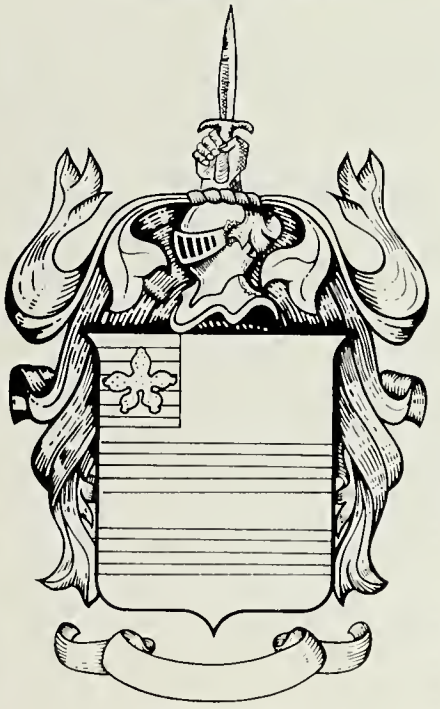
The name derived from the father is common in most countries. As children grew, it was not unusual to refer to them by the name of their parents. The addition of son to a name would identify the offsprings of a person. Thus we find the Scandinavian and English — son; the Greek - pulos; the Finnish — nen; the Polish — weicz; the Spanish — ez all denoting the son. The Irish O' means grandson while the prefix Mac, Mc indicates in Gaelic and Scottish, son.

SYMBOLS: There is no specific meaning or explanation now available for the various designs and insignia used in Heraldry. The origin of most of these is now obscure. These have been evolved down the centuries by the Heralds when Arms were being granted, their number being added to as more Arms came into use. The principal heraldic devices in use may be taken from Animals, Birds, Reptiles, Insects, Trees, Plants, Flowers, Celestial Objects (Sun, Stars) and Monsters. The latter are bizarre and fantastic creatures drawn from classical and medieval mythology.

CREST AND MOTTO: Variations are often found in the Crest and Motto used by various branches of one family, and sometimes no record of crest or motto can be traced. They may have been in use in ancient times, but with the passing of centuries they were omitted and forgotten.

SPELLING OF SURNAMES: Various forms of spellings for the same basic name may be in use. These variations have arisen through changing the original form of spelling for personal or other reasons, or to shorten or simplify a difficult spelling or to render pronunciation easier. This applies particularly to numerous names of Irish and Continental European origin.

Coat of Arms



Picard

Historiography

The Picard Coat of Arms illustrated left was drawn by an heraldic artist from information officially recorded in ancient heraldic archives. Documentation for the Picard Coat of Arms design can be found in Burke's General Armory. Heraldic artists of old developed their own unique language to describe an individual Coat of Arms. In their language, the Arms (shield) is as follows:

"Ar. two bars az. on a canton of the last a cinquefoil or."

When translated the Arms description is:

"Silver: two blue bars, on a blue square a gold grass with five leaves."

Above the shield and helmet is the Crest which is described as:

"A dexter hand holding a sword in pale ppr."

A translation of the Crest description is:

"A dexter hand holding a sword upright in natural color."

Family mottos are believed to have originated as battle cries in medieval times. A Motto was not recorded with the Picard Coat of Arms.

Individual surnames originated for the purpose of more specific identification. The four primary sources for second names were: occupation, location, father's name and personal characteristics. The surname Picard appears to be locational in origin, and is believed to be associated with the French, meaning, "one who came from, or lived near Picardy (pike man), in France." The supplementary sheet included with this report is designed to give you more information to further your understanding of the origin of names. Different spellings of the same original surname are a common occurence. Dictionaries of surnames indicate probable spelling variations. The most prominent variations of Picard are Picar, Picarts, Pickard, Pickards and Picards.

Census records available disclose the fact there are approximately 1475 heads of households in the United States with the old and distinguished Picard name. The United States Census Bureau estimates there are approximately 3.2 persons per household in America today which yields an approximate total of 4720 people in the United States carrying the Picard name. Although the figure seems relatively low, it does not signify the many important contributions that individuals bearing the Picard name have made to history.

No genealogical representation is intended or implied by this report and it does not represent individual lineage or your family tree.

UN NOM QUI PARLE

"DESTROISMAISONS"

La plupart des noms de famille canadiens ont subi, surtout au début, de nombreuses et très variées modifications. L'orthographe des noms était très "élastique", et l'usage fréquent des surnoms n'était pas pour simplifier le problème.

Ce fait cependant n'était pas exclusivement canadien, car le même phénomène se rencontrait fréquemment en France.

Ainsi, le nom de famille de votre ancêtre, Philippe Destroismaisons, a été à l'origine un surnom. Quand on sait en effet que la famille Destroismaisons était originaire du hameau "Les Trois Maisons", dans la paroisse de Bazinghen en Picardie, on a là l'origine du nom de cette famille: c'était la famille qui habitait le hameau des Trois Maisons. On l'appela bientôt la famille Destroismaisons.

Mais en arrivant au Canada, Philippe Destroismaisons devait encore voir son nom de famille changer. On le surnomma en effet Picard, du nom de sa province d'origine, la Picardie.

Philippe Destroismaisons, qui s'était établi sur la côte de Beaupré dans la paroisse actuelle de l'Ange-Gardien, se mit d'abord au service du sieur Bertrand Chesnay de la Garenne, seigneur du fief de Lothainville.

Quelques années plus tard, votre ancêtre épousait, au Château-Richer, Martine Crosnier.

Les jeunes époux décidèrent alors de quitter la côte de Beaupré. Ils traversèrent donc sur la rive sud, et s'établirent sur une terre située sur les confins de la seigneurie de la Rivière du Sud, dans cette région qui devait former plus tard Saint-Pierre du Sud.

Comme la plupart de nos ancêtres à cette époque, Philippe Destroismaisons était donc cultivateur. Il exerçait cependant en outre le métier de cordonnier.

De nos jours les descendants directs de Philippe Destroismaisons sont des Destroismaisons ou des Picard. De toute façon, ils portent un nom qui parle.

The majority of the names of Canadian families have undergone, since its beginnings, numerous and varied modifications. The spelling of the name was very "elastic", and the frequent use of surnames did nothing to simplify the problem.

This fact nevertheless, wasn't exclusively Canadian, because the same phenomenon was found frequently in France.

Also, the family name of your ancestor, Philippe Destroismaisons, has been from the beginning, a surname. When one understands, in effect, that the family of Destroismaisons, was originally from the hamlet of "The Three Houses", in the parish of Bazinghen in Picardie, one has there, the origin of the name of that family; it was the family who lived in the hamlet of the Three Houses. People soon called the family Destroismaisons.

But upon arrival in Canada, Philippe Destroismaisons exercised again a family name change. They were nicknamed indeed, Picard, from the original province, Picardie.

Philippe Destroismaisons, who settled on the shores of Beaupre in the actual parish of L'Ange Gardien, aimed at first to be of service to Monsieur Bertrand Chesnay de la Garenne, the squire, (or lord) of Lothainville.

A few years later, (1669) your ancestor married at Chateau-Richer, Martine Crosnier. The young husband and wife then decided to leave the shores of Beaupre. They crossed over the river to the south, and settled on land situated on the borders of the "lordship" of the Riviere du Sud.

Like most of our ancestors of that era, Philippe Destroismaisons was a farmer. He practiced this calling in addition to his occupation as a shoemaker.

These days, the direct descendants of Philippe Destroismaisons are either Destroismaisons, or are Picard. In any case, they carry a name that talks. (Un nom qui parle).

(Both above lines blend into 1 line in the 5th generation, Michel, son of Rene, m his 3d cousin Marie-Josephte, dau. of Jean-Francois. Further generations found elsewhere.)

A portion of the following information was taken from "THE CANADIANS — The Story of a People", by George M. Wrong, pgs. 92-94. "According to this source, after peace was made with the Iroquois in 1667, Talon, the Intendant, sought ways in which the colony could expand. The most important need was settlers. To that end, Louis the XIV undertook to supply wives for unmarried men who should become inhabitants. There were 2,000 men in Quebec at that time and only 1,000 females.

The girls were very carefully chosen and accompanied on the boats by Nuns. Priests had a share in the selection and were quite Puritan in their outlook, as much so as the Puritans in Boston. One hundred fifty women came over in 1665. However, more unmarried men came than females. The average age for females to marry was 14 or 15 and for males, 18. Most families comprised 8 to 18 children at that time...."

Many of the "girls" came from Normandy in France. Since our Incoming Ancestor, Philippe, was married in 1669 to a girl newly arrived from Normandy, we suspect she was one of the "King's Girls" as they were called.

Three model Villages were built near Quebec and 30 to 40 families settled there. Since Philippe and Martine Crosnier were married in the little Village of Chateau-Richer, just North of Quebec, it is indeed possible that they were one of these families so settled. Some of their descendants lived in the nearby Village of L'Ange Gardien, one of the Ancient Parishes of Quebec.

A further note from the priest states that Jean-Francois Destroismaisons died at St. Frances the 14th of July in 1814 at the age of 82 years. Since their registers begin in 1733 and he was born in 1732, he does not have the birth of Jean-Francois in his records.

His wife, Francoise Terrien, died at St. Francis the 18th of February 1815 at the age of 84 years.

Another note from a secretary at St. Frances, Isle of Orleans says that the Picard/ Destroismaisons arrived in that parish around 1800, but today there are not many left there — not since around 1900. One Mr. Elzear Picard who lives at Saint-Jean, Isle of Orleans, is an elderly gentleman and a descendant of that line and is more than eighty years old. Having written to him and received no answer, I could not pursue it further.

He was m. about 1860 at Ste-Marie Beauce? to Rose DelMay Odit (Audet). She was b. Bucksport, Maine and d. Oct. 11, 1893 at Haverhill, Mass. She was the dau. of John Audett and Elizabeth Rancour, Bangor, Me. They had 15 chn: 1. John Francis, b. Monmouth, Me. d. at birth — no date. 2. Minnie, b. Monmouth, Me. d. at birth, no date. 3. Apr. 13, 1949, Malden, Mass.

Eight of these children grew to maturity. Each will be here treated in a separate section, "A" through "H".

Edouard Des Trois Maisons (dit) Picard left Quebec about the time of his marriage to seek work in Maine. He finally settled down in Haverhill, Massachusetts as a shoemaker. He was responsible for dropping the name of DesTroisMaisons and keeping the name of Picard. His ancestors had used both names from the time they entered Canada from France. Edouard also anglicized the names of his children. Instead of Jean Francois, and Marie-Louise they became John Francis and Mary Louise.

Edouard's death certificate and on his gravestone, it states he was born in 1835. This is in error, since his birth certificate in the ancient parish of Ste-Marie Beauce in Quebec, states he was born and baptized "this day", which was May 4, 1832. Thus he was 55 at death and not 52. He was the son of Michel II Destroismaisons (dit) Picard and Marie Louise Vachon (dit) Pomerleau, Edouard's second wife. I have not been able to locate either Rose Del May's birth certificate, nor hers and Edouard's marriage certificate.

He and his wife, Rose, were disinterred from the old Hilldale Cemetery in Haverhill, Mass. and were buried in the Linwood Cemetery, where five of his children are also buried. His father was a farmer in Ste-Marie Beauce, when Edouard came to the United States. No record has yet been found of any sister and brothers of Edouard. He had a half-sister, Marie Anastasie, by his father's first marriage, which I include at the end of the book.

Edouard was a shoemaker in Haverhill, Mass. His was the first generation of the Picard/Destroismaisons line to be born in the United States. Rose Del May's gravestone also does not coincide with her death certificate. On the various records which I have, Rose was called either: Rose Del May Odit, Rose D. Oditt, Rose D. Auditt, Rose Odett, Roselia Odette, Rose Odit, Rose Deal, Rose D. Audett (death certificate), Della Marie, Delie, Rosedelia Oditt, Delia Odit, Rose D.A. Oditt, Rose D.M. Audit, Rose Odette and Rose D. Odette. The reader may take his choice.

An odd occurrence seems to be the departure from the Catholic Faith which was practiced in Canada, to mostly the Protestant Faith by this family after coming to the United States. Probably 75% are practicing Protestants, the others remaining of the Catholic Faith. (An aunt once told me there had been trouble with the priests and Monsieur Edouard and his father, Michel II. True? Possible. We had thought all along we were probably Hugenots, but there is no evidence found to support this theory.

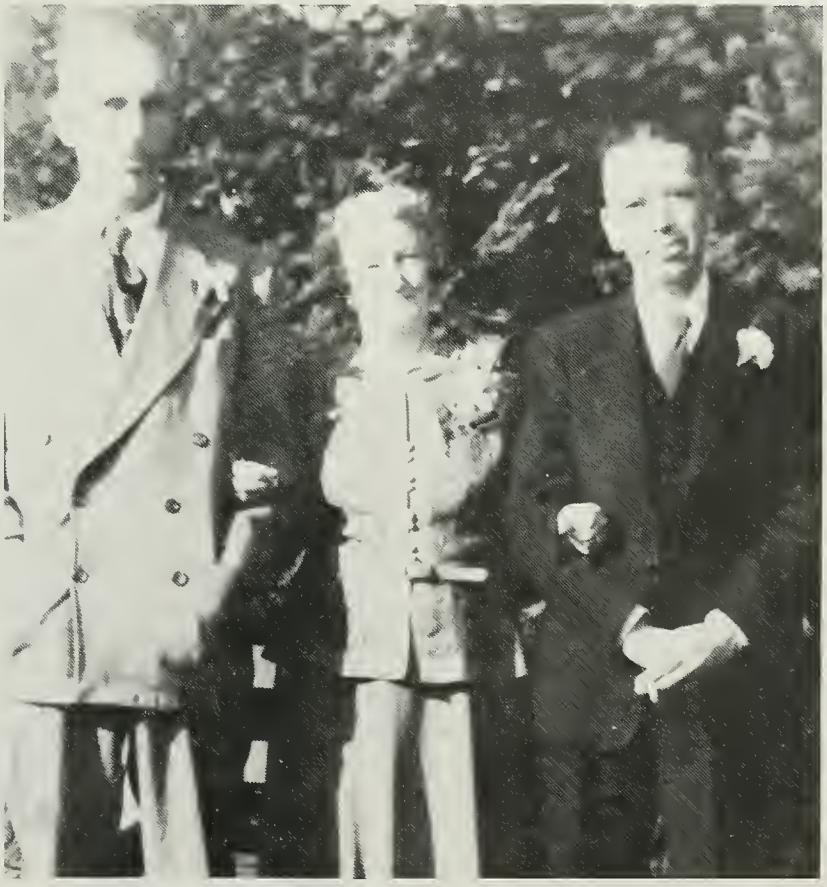
John Edward Francis was a clerk by occupation in the Saugus-Lynn area. He was 78 years, 2 mos. and 22 days old at time of death. He resided in his younger days in Haverhill, Mass., then lived in Saugus until his death. He is buried in Puritan Lawn Cemetery in West Peabody, Mass. All children with the exception of Raymond were born of his first marriage, all in Haverhill, Mass. Birth certificates of several children state that John Edward Francis was, at various times, a shoemaker, freight handler, delivery clerk and shipper with the Railway Express.

Following the death of John's first wife, Katherine Josephine in 1899, he remarried, probably in 1901, to Ida May Fogg. His last son was born of this marriage — Raymond. Prior to this, John took his family to the Lynn-Saugus area leaving his first wife, aged 34 years, and six infants or very young children buried in the Hilldale Cemetery near the grandparents, Edouard and Rose. Some years later, the last three surviving children had their parents, Edouard and Rose, disinterred and reburied in a lot in Linwood Cemetery, leaving the other (John's) family in Hilldale Cemetery, Haverhill. Katherine died at age 34 of tuberculosis.

On Katherine's marriage certificate on record in Haverhill City Hall, it states she was born in Lawrence, Mass. and that her father's name was John and her mother's name, Nellie. On her death certificate, however, it states her parents' names were Stephen Murphy and Elizabeth and that they were born in Ireland. It further states that she, Kate, was born in Manchester, N.H. John and Katherine were married in Haverhill, Mass. on Feb. 14, 1884 by David B. Tenney, Justice of the Peace. John Edward Francis was always known as "Uncle Frank".



Ernest, Frances and Raymond Picard

Below are given the families of the three surviving children of John Edward Francis and his two wives. By his first wife, Katherine, he had: 1. Ralph Milton, b. Oct. 1, 1918 in Lynn, Mass. He m. He was a trucker for more than thirty years. He moved from Albany, N.Y. to So. Lake Tahoe, California, late in life, where his son Richard resided. Ernest had a great sense of humor, often playing practical jokes. He once went to his cousin Elmer's Restaurant in Lynn, and complained for about 10 minutes about the food, service, etc. Finally, getting tired of the cat-and-mouse game, he owned up to being a long-lost cousin. He always called me his Literary cousin.

SECTION F
and
Rose Del May Odit

VIII Generation:

11th ch: George Albert Fields PICARD: 11th ch. of Edouard and Rose Odit PICARD, was b. in Bath, Maine, Feb. 14, 1875. He died in Haverhill, Mass. April 3, 1952, m. April 22, 1900, Florence Mabel Eldredge, dau. of William S. Eldredge and Ella Josephine Fish.

George Albert Picard as a youth

The following is taken from the Haverhill, Mass. Evening Gazette of April 3, 1952:

"George A. Picard, age 77 of 91 Concord Street, retired attendance officer in the school department, died this morning following a short illness. He was the widower of Florence Mabel (Eldredge) Picard, who died in 1947.

Mr. Picard was appointed attendance officer in 1909 and served for 35 years before his retirement Feb. 1, 1945. He was succeeded by his son, Wilbur H. Picard, who served on a temporary basis for more than a year.

Mr. Picard was born in Bath, Me. Feb. 14, 1875, son of the late Edouard and Rose (Odit) Picard. When he was a year old his parents moved to this city. He attended Haverhill Public Schools and Mt. Hermon School, Northfield, Mass.

Mr. Picard worked for a few years at a shoe trade, and devoted four years to Y.M.C.A. work before being elected attendance officer.

He was one of the founders and first president of the Massachusetts Supervisors of Attendance Association. He was an honorary life member of the Haverhill Teachers' Association.

He was a member of Merrimack Lodge AF and AM; Pentucket Chapter R.A.M.; Merrimack Valley Lodge of Perfection SR; and the Haverhill Square and Compass Club." end of quote.

George Albert Picard as a young man

George Picard was also a special policeman for the City of Haverhill. He taught Greek-Americanization classes at Haverhill High Night School for many years, and officiated at High School dances, football and basketball games and other functions.

He and his son, Wilbur, were custodians for several years at the former Union Congregational Church. He was a staunch Republican in politics.

At his funeral, the City Council, Haverhill Teachers' Association, Police Department, Fire Department, Haverhill Masonic Lodges, and the Protestant Guild for the Blind, were all represented.

George was also interested in music, having several musicians in his family. In the "old days" he listened for hours on end to such records as those of Harry Lauder (his favorite), John McCormack, Enrico Caruso, Nelson Eddy and others. It mattered not that each 3 minutes or so, he had to get up to change the record. There were no Long-Plays in those days, nor were there any "stackable" records on automatic turntables. Another pleasure was listening to the old Philco Hour, never missing a week.

There were nine children of this marriage.

After a short teaching assignment at Ashby, Mass. High School, she began a career of teaching at Haverhill High School, which lasted 30 years. She retired in 1958, under the provisions of a veteran's pension. She was honored by the Haverhill School Committee in April of 1958, and resolutions were read into the Committee Records. She was recommended as a teacher of Haverhill High School languages with great distinction; also for her efforts on behalf of youth; and that her classes were of greater value, due to her ready wit; and as being a conscientious and faithful worker with the staff as well as with youth.

Miss Picard served as organist in several area churches at various times in her career, and at funeral homes. She taught piano to several of her nieces and nephews and played the cello for a number of years.

Helen obtained a year's leave of absence from her teaching duties at Haverhill High School in 1944? during World War II. She was stationed at Mason General Hospital on Long Island, N.Y. sharing her musical knowledge for the patients' benefit.

Following her retirement, she traveled to many foreign countries. A humorous note may be here inserted. Helen and her sister, Barbara, were quite regularly banished from the family dinner table for "giggling" too much and disturbing the family meal. Since the banishment was only to the kitchen, and the house was small — it was quite easy for the one who was sent away from the table, to peer around the corner at the remaining sister, until she had forced that sister to join her in her "punishment". It seems we were always hungry!

Helen continues to enjoy music in her retirement, being a member of the choir at the Portland Street Baptist Church.

This ends the family of George Albert Picard and Florence Mabel Eldredge. With such a large family, it was inevitable that everything would not always be calm. Take the excursion to the 4th of July parade, for instance, when three of us younger children accompanied our father on an outing to the parade. We were very proud, carrying our sizeable flags. Supposedly, the flags would always be carried upright. But youngsters forget. After watching us continually dipping our flags to the ground, father's patience wore thin. (Mother usually stayed home for a rest!) In a loud voice, he bellowed, "The next time you children bring flags with you, leave them at home!" We often smile at this impossible solution.

Oldest 5 children of George and Florence Picard — Fall of 1905

Another time, Father was walking several of us over the Haverhill Bridge in to Bradford. Suddenly, he noticed Ruth skipping on ahead. She was five years old at the time. Worse, he noticed the "draw" on the bridge was raised. He said as calmly as possible, "Ruth, wait for us. We need you back here." Ruth stopped where she was, but didn't turn back. When father got to her, she was on the edge of the draw. All's well that ends well. She is still among us over seventy years later. I would not have wanted to raise nine children, but mother and father managed nicely. We must have given them some trying times!

The following three letters from Rouen, Amiens, and Fontaine-le-Bourg in France, relate to numerous attempts made to locate information concerning the parents of our incoming ancestors, Philippe Des Trois Maisons and his wife, Martine Crosnier.

Since the records for the year 1637 were lost, it is not possible to obtain a birth certificate for Philippe. However, other sources have showed him to have been born that year.

Philippe was only 8 years old when his father died in 1645, and Martine was born that same year. According to this information from Pas-de-Calais, Philippe's father's name was Adam and not Adrian as other sources show. Both "Adam" and "Adrian" show up in various records. No doubt this is a discrepancy made in reading the handwriting of the records of 1645 and earlier. Adam was probably born in the 1590's.

Adam DesTroisMaisons was a Master Gunsmith. In any case, he made and repaired firearms. He lived in Montreuil on Pewter Pot Road, where he had his shop.

Madame,

En réponse à votre demande du 2 mars,veuillez trouver les quelques renseignements qui vous permettront de guider votre recherche:

Les registres des Paroisses(baptêmes et mariages) étaient rédigés en double exemplaire,l'un restant à la paroisse, l'autre déposé au Bailliage.
A la Révolution de 1789,les registres de paroisses furent pris par les Municipalités,les registres des Bailliages furent ensuite portés aux Archives des Départements.
La ville de Montreuil appartenait jusqu'à cette époque au Diocèse d'Amiens,mais depuis elle fait partie du Département du Pas-de-Calais.
C'est donc soit à
" Monsieur le Conservateur des Archives Municipales
Hôtel de Ville
62170 Montreuil "
soit (avec plus de chance de réussite)à
"Monsieur le Conservateur des Archives Départementales
Préfecture
62021 ARRAS "
que vous devez vous adresser pour Philippe des Trois Maisons.
Pour Martine Crosnier,il faut vous adresser soit à "Monsieur le Sécretaire de Mairie de

soit (avec plus de chance de réussite) à
"Monsieur le Conservateur des Archives Départementales

Les Archives Diocésaines de Rouen et d'Amiens ne possédant les registres qu'après la Révolution vers 1802.

Regrettant de ne pouvoir répondre à votre demande,mais espérant que ces quelques renseignements vous seront utiles pour vos recherches,je vous prie,Madame,de croire à mes sentiments dévoués,

Madame,

Suite à votre lettre du 5 mai 1983, par laquelle vous me demandiez des renseignements concernant votre ancêtre, Martine Crosnier née en 1645 à Fontaine-le-Bourg, je suis au regret de vous dire que les recherches effectuées se sont révélées négatives.

Les documents conservées aux Archives Départementales s'interrompent de 1622 à 1671 pour Fontaine-le-Bourg et de 1584 à 1668 pour Tendos, paroisse rattachée à Fontaine-le-Bourg. Par ailleurs, les registres détenus par la mairie datent de 1668 pour Fontaine-le-Bourg et de 1661 pour Tendos.

Veuillez agréer, Madame, l'expression de mes sentiments les plus distingués.

François BURCKARD

The following is a 5 page copy from the Archives of Pas-de-Calais. These records show the inventory of the estate, or goods, of Adam DesTroisMaisons, following his death in 1645. This document was drawn up on the 20th of March of that year by the Notary, Bocquillon. At least one other signature on the document was discernible and was that of Anthoine DesTroisMaisons. He was most likely Adam's brother, since Adam's children would not have been old enough to sign. Another person signed with his mark — "X".

With help from Sister Florence of the Gray Nuns of St. Joseph's Church in Haverhill, Mass., and of Youssef Remadna of France, a student visiting Boxford, the following few items were gleaned:

Adam disposed of bed linen and several pairs of drapes to a friend. (Would this mean his wife had already pre-deceased him?)

He gave a gift to Miss Louise Aubrey Mont, but we know not what. He speaks of Monsieur L'Abbe — to "seek something" and stated there was "no charge negotiable" for same. He also leaves to another relative, some property "up as far as the chicken-coop". (probably his boundary line.)

He goes on to say that "happily, the following is preferred";

1. I give two cauldrons, medium-size and my carob tree. (Locust?)
2. Entirely smooth and fresh, all the pairs of draperies.
3. However many egg-cups there are.
4. My new grand plate, and my small new.....
5. 24 pieces of silver and some brass.
6. 2 pairs of socks and slippers.
7. 2 pairs of linen drapes.
8. My pretty coverlet.
9. To swap my ..... so that there be two pairs of draperies for Louise.
10. 2 copies of (something) under lock and key.
11. I give to the two chaplains an offering — and also, thanks for being devoted to aiding others.
12. The official report of Louise Aubrey Mont and to attend to (things) however you can, and also Monsieur L'Abbe Judicial.

There is much more, but unfortunately the unclear copies, ancient writing, flourishes, spellings, etc., make it nearly impossible to translate.

Should any French Historian be able to translate these 5 pages, it would be much appreciated if they would inform the author.

Madame,

Il y avait plusieurs paroisses à Montreuil au XVIIe siècle et nous n'avons pas tous les registres paroissiaux aux Archives départementales. Il faudrait vous adresser aux Archives communales de Montreuil pour vérifier si Philippe Destroismaisons est né en 1637 dans la paroisse Notre-Dame (portion dextre de la cure) ou dans la paroisse Saint-Josse-au-Val. Les autres paroisses ont perdu le registre de l'année 1637 ou ne connaissent pas Philippe.

Son père ne s'appelait pas Adrien mais Adam. Il mourut en 1645 ; il était maître forgeur d'arquebuses et habitait à Montreuil, rue du Pot d'Etain. Je vous envoie ci-joint les photocopies de l'inventaire de ses biens après son décès, dressé le 20 mars 1645 par le notaire Bocquillon.

Veuillez agréer, Madame, l'expression de mes sentiments distingués.
